Table A1.1: Archaeological Remains and Historic Buildings

Site Number	Highland HER/HES Reference Number	Grid Reference and Location	Site Type	Designation	Site Name	Description	Period	Value
1	MHG2820	NGR 283270 826200	Clearance Cairn (Archaeological Remains)	HER	Clearance cairn, Carn Na Doire Leathain	Two small groups of stone clearance heaps located on a ridge.	Prehistoric (Neolithic)	Medium
2	MHG2821	NGR 282700 826500	Field System (Archaeological Remains)	HER	Field system, Carn Na Doire Leathain	Field system, comprising stone clearance and lynchets located on a SE-facing hillside. There is no evidence of settlement or field walls, however, its form suggests an Iron Age date.	Prehistoric (Iron Age)	Medium
3	MHG23808	NGR 282480 826320	Road (Archaeological Remains)	HER	Carn A'Gharbh-Choire	A section of the Old Coach Road from Perth to Inverness. The road was abandoned in 1897, however an excavation across its course in 1974 discovered that the road surface still survives, as well as an associated drainage ditch.	Post Medieval	Low
4	HES number SM11673 MHG2822	NGR 281980 826850	Hut Circle (Archaeological Remains)	Designated (scheduled) and HER	Drumbain Cottage, hut circles	The monument comprises the remains of three hut circles which are visible as low circular banks in	Prehistoric (Late)	High

						heather moorland. Each hut circle measures c.10m in diameter. The scheduled area comprises three separate circular areas centred on each hut (all three of which have same HES number).	Bronze Age or Iron Age)
5	HES number SM11806 MHG2835, MHG43329, MHG3330, MHG 43328, MHG43331 & MHG26460	NHR 281510 827830	Hut Circle (Archaeological Remains)	Designated (scheduled) and HER	Soilsean, deserted township and hut circle	This monument comprises the remains of a late prehistoric hut circle and the site of Sheanevall , a deserted rural township of post medieval date which survives as a series of upstanding rectangular and sub rectangular building plots. The prehistoric hut circle lies immediately north of the township and comprises an earthen bank measuring c.10m in diameter which survives to a height of c.1m. The deserted township included the remains of building plots, earthen banks, dykes and a corn drying kiln.	Prehistoric and Post Medieval	High
6	MHG14321	NGR 281400 827600	Township	HER	Creag an Tuim Bhig Township	A township comprising a northern group of four roofed buildings, one partially roofed building, two unroofed buildings a horse-gang and a southern group of on roofed, one unroofed building and one enclosure and two lengths of head-dyke is depicted on the 1 st edition OS 6-inch map.	Post Medieval (18 th century)	Low

7	MHG2839	NGR 281470 827390	Field System	HER	Creag an Tuim Bhig Field System	The remains of a field system marked by stone clearance heaps, lynchets, traces of stone walls, delineating fields measuring between 40 m and 20 m by 10 m.	Post Medieval (18 th 19 th century)	Low
8	MHG2802	NGR 281240 827040	Bridge	HER	Drumbain Bridge	Concrete bridge over the Allt Cosach, replacing the Type 3 Thomas Telford Parliamentary Bridge. The old Parliamentary bridge is illustrated in Curtis 1978-80, plate 32b.	Post Medieval (19 th century)	Low
9	MHG2798	NGR 280900 827140	Burial Ground	HER	Raigmore Burial	A circular enclosure consisting of turf covered wall footings, situated on the top of a small wooded knoll around the base of which are traces of walling and ruined buildings. There seems to be no archaeological evidence to suggest that this was a prehistoric burial ground.	Prehistoric	Low
10	HES number LB14895	NGR 280682 827579	Church (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category C Listed)	Former Moy Free Church, Findhorn Bridge, near Tomatin	The former Moy Free Church was constructed in c.1844-48, with later additions and alteration added in 1853 and 1900. It is a shallow, rectangular plan, single storey church building of plain classical design. It is a good example of an early Free Church building	Post Medieval (19 th century)	Low
11	HES number LB14892	NGR 806830 275850	Manse (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category B Listed)	Former Moy Parish Manse (Church of Scotland)	Manse dating to 1765, with a front wing of 1839. The older rear portion is built of harl pointed rubble with ashlar margins, and the front	Post Medieval (18 th century)	Medium

12	HES number LB14896	NGR 806630 275960	Manse (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category C Listed)	Findhorn Bridge, Old Free Church Manse	Built in 1861 of harled rubble. It is of two storeys with an attic.	Post Medieval (19 th century)	Low
13	HES number LB14885 MHG15637	NGR 804170 277410	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category B Listed) & HER	Findhorn Bridge	2-span shuttered-concrete girder bridge built in 1926 by Sir Owen Williams and Maxwell Ayrton. This is the largest and most expensive bridge constructed by Williams and Ayrton along the route of the old A9 in the Highlands. The road deck is suspended from deep vierendeel girders. The bridge replaced an earlier bridge which was built by Thomas Telford in 1833.	Modern	Medium
14	MHG49448	NGR 280410 827740	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	HER	Findhorn Bridge, Old Bridges	Predecessor of the current listed Findhorn Bridge (site 9 above) which was built by Thomas Telford in 1833 to carry the old route of the A9 over the River Findhorn.	Post Medieval (19 th century)	Low
15	MHG2825	NGR 280420 828080	Cross Slab (Historic Buildings)	HER	Cross slab, Gallowhill	A stone bearing an incised cross was found at the foot of Gallowhill. The carving appears relatively 'fresh' and therefore is likely to not be of an early date.	Undated	Low
16	MHG16115	NGR 280400 828300	Cruck House (Historic Buildings)	HER	Morilemor Farm, Cruck Framed Cottage	Probably site of a 19 th century croft house. The site is no longer extant, but remains of it were located during a watching brief in 2002.	Post medieval (19 th century)	Negligible

Site Number	Highland HER/HES Reference Number	Grid Reference and Location	Site Type	Designation	Site Name	Description	Period	Value
17	MHG2788	NGR 280166 828324	Clearance Cairn, Field System, Lynchet (Archaeological remains)	HER	Field System, Tomatin	This site was found in relatively recently felled woodland and was found to comprise a prehistoric field system marked by stone clearance heaps and an occasional lynchet. Part of the site was surveyed in 2009 (in advance of the construction of a house) when it was noted that the area was little disturbed by the previous woodland.	Prehistoric	Medium
18	MHG32711	NGR 280830 828110	Byre	HER	Soilsean Byre	The 1 st edition OS map depicts a roofed rectilinear building here, within a rectilinear enclosure system with a larger structure to the south. The settlement is annotated "Soilshan"	Post-medieval (19 th century)	Low
19	MHG2800	NGR 281080 828040	Stone Circle	HER	Soilshan Wood Stone Circle	The site of this so-called 'stone circle' is a low knoll strewn with large and irregularly-shaped boulders, and not as stated by Walker, a saucer-shaped depression. There are as many boulders lying on the knoll and in the surrounding area, that numerous natural circles of stones are formed. Doubtful antiquity.	Prehistoric	Low
20	HES number LB14893 MHG2801	NGR 280720 828818	Viaduct (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category B Listed)	Tomatin Railway viaduct over River Findhorn	9 span steel lattice-girder bridge by Fowler and Paterson dating to 1897. The viaduct is carried on tall slender tooled rubble piers, a pair of which are in the River Findhorn. Historic Scotland notes this as a fine example of a lattice-girder	Post-medieval (19 th century)	Medium railway bridge with similar construction to the Forth Rail Bridge (which Fowler was also involved with).

21	MHG22654	NGR 281100 828900	Enclosure (Archaeological Remains)	HER	Raigbeg	Site of a possible enclosure to the south of Raigbeg Farm. The date of this feature is unknown.	Unknown	Low
22	MHG52663	NGR 280885 828962	Farmstead, House, Sheep Fold (Historic Buildings)	HER	Site of farmstead, Dalnahoin	A farmstead is depicted on the 1 st edition OS map of c.1876 which consisted of a roofed building (labelled Dalanhown) and an attached sheepfold. By 1973 the farmstead has been extended and had further sheep pens attached.	Post-medieval (18th century, possibly earlier)	Low
23	MHG4323	NGR 280822 829037	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	HER	Tomatin Bridge	Bridge carrying the current A9 over the River Findhorn. It dates from the mid-1970s.	Modern	Low
24	MHG2797	NGR 281150 829030	Burial (Archaeological remains)	HER	Burial, Raigbeg	It has been suggested that the name 'Raigbeg' suggests the site of a prehistoric burial ground, although so physical evidence of this has been uncovered.	Prehistoric?	Low
25	MHG24635	NGR 281080 829090	School (Historic Buildings)	HER	School, Raigbeg	School building which went out of use in 2000. Probably dates from the late 19 th century.	Post medieval (19 th century)	Low
26	MHG47442	NGR 281022 829096	School (Historic Buildings)	HER	Tomatin, Raigbeg, School	School building by Alexander Ross, built in 1875	Post Medieval (19 th century)	Low

Site Number	Highland HER/HES Reference Number	Grid Reference and Location	Site Type	Designation	Site Name	Description	Period	Value
27	MHG29946	NGR 281070 829160	Commemorative Monument	HER	Raigbeg	Memorial erected to the Rev Edwin Leece Browne who dies in 1933.	Modern	Low
28	MHG3001	NGR 280760 829230	Clearance Cairn	HER	Bridgend	A mound of stones adjacent to a 19 th century wall. The HER ascribed a prehistoric date to this cairn, however, the record also states that is probably a modern clearance heap associated with a quarry scoop. The modern date seems most likely.	Modern	Low
29	MHG2786	NGR 280830 829340	Stone	HER	Prince Charles' Stone	A large stone c.4 1/2ft high and about the same in diameter with a fairly flat top, where, it is alleged, Prince Charles and his staff dined on their way to Culloden.	Post-medieval (18 th century)	Low
30	HES number LB14894 MHG15533	NGR 280261 829062	Viaduct (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category B listed)	Tomatin Railway Viaduct over old A9 Road	9 span viaduct dating to 1897 with tall round arch rings and constructed of tooled rubble with tooled rusticated ashlar dressings.	Post-medieval (19 th century)	Medium
31	MHG2824 & 40345	NGR 280570 829379	Hut Circle and Field System (Archaeological remains)	HER	Bridgend	Two poorly preserved circular stone-walled houses, one measuring c.14m, and the other 12.5m in diameter. The huts occupy a strip of relatively undisturbed moorland and are surrounded by evidence of contemporary cultivation in the form of clearance heaps, lynchets and field walls.	Bronze Age	Medium

32	MHG23807	NGR 280490 829339	Military Road (Archaeological remains)	HER	General Wade's Military Road, Perth to Inverness	Two sections were excavated across General Wade's Military Road near Tomatin in advance of the upgrading of the A9. It was discovered that the road had been destroyed in this location by the existing A9 road.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Negligible
33	MHG49453	NGR 279902 829247	Cottage (Historic Buildings)	HER	Tomatin Station Cottages	Station cottages, no further information	Post-medieval (19th century)	Low
34	MHG2838	NGR 280199 829399	Field System (Archaeological remains)	HER	Field System, Tomatin	Settlement of three circular stone walled huts and a contemporary field system. The field system is marked by stone clearance heaps and occasional lynchets but details of the plots are obscured by heather. All of the huts are c.15m in diameter.	Prehistoric (Bronze Age?)	Medium
35	MHG23806	NGR 279999 829468	Military Road (Archaeological remains)	HER	General Wade's Military Road, Perth to Inverness	Two sections were excavated across General Wade's Military Road near Tomatin in advance of the upgrading of the A9. It was discovered that the road had been destroyed in this location by the existing A9 road.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Low
36	MHG24070	NGR 279524 829359	Railway Station (Historic Buildings)	HER	Tomatin Station	Tomatin Station was an intermediate station on the Aviemore-Inverness main line of the former Highland Railway which opened in 1897. The station closed to regular traffic on 3rd May 1965 although the line remains in use,	Post-medieval (19th century)	Low

						apparently the station building was built of wood
37	MHG38853	NGR 279629 829432	Curling Pond (Archaeological remains)	HER	Tomatin Curling Pond	Curling pond situated in a boggy hollow below the station yard, fed by natural springs with the water level controlled by a sluice, the wooden remains of which could be seen in 2010. Banking for spectators could view the contests still survives but it is overgrown. The first documented reference of it dates to 1905, but it may be older. Curling stones which were used on the pond still survive at the site, each is shaped of polished granite with a wooden handle and brass fittings.	Post-medieval/ Modern (19th/20th century)	Low
38	MHG32440	NGR 279840 829697	Military Road (Archaeological remains)	HER	Dunkeld-Dalnacardoch-Ruthven-Aviemore-Inverness Military Road	Well defined stretch of General Wade's Military Road.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Medium
39	MHG49447	NGR 279197 829677	Railway Viaduct (Historic Buildings)	HER	Railway Viaduct over the Allt Na Frithe	Allt na Frithe viaduct by John Fowler and Murdoch Paterson in 1894-7. The railway viaduct has nine semi-circular arches and carries the Aviemore-Inverness main line of the former Highland Railway and still carried regular passenger traffic.	Post medieval (19 th century)	Low

Site Number	Highland HER/HES Reference Number	Grid Reference and Location	Site Type	Designation	Site Name	Description	Period	Value
40	MHG2841	NGR 279519 829798	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	HER	Frithe Bridge	No description on HER. This site was visited during the walkover survey where it was noted that this bridge appears to be a modern concrete bridge which may have replaced an earlier bridge over the Allt na Frithe at Tomatin.	Post-medieval/Modern (19th/20th century)	Negligible
41	MHG55423	NGR 280099 830099	Aerial Ropeway (Archaeological remains)	HER	Site of Rope Bridge below Lower Inverbrough	Remains of rope box bridge (known locally as a 'Pulley-Hauley) below the settlement of Lower Inverbrough. Exact grid reference and current condition unknown.	Modern (20th Century)	Negligible
42	MHG30320	NGR 279860 829939	Observation Post (Historic Buildings)	HER	Tomatin Observation Post	The Tomatin bunker (Inverness 62 Post) was part of a countrywide network of monitoring posts which provided data via telephone. The one roomed concrete shelter is accessed down a narrow ladder shaft. The bunker was constructed of brick and concrete in the 1950s	Modern (20th Century)	Low
43	MHG32441	NGR 279699 829999	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	HER	Allt Na Frithe Bridge	Apparently there are traces of a bridge over the Allt na Frithe in this location which may be associated with General Wade's Military Road.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Medium
44	MHG24071 & 43033	NGR 279549 830049	House (Historic Buildings)	HER	Freeburn Hotel, Tomatin	Hotel which was probably built in 1745 and was reputedly one of the stopping places of Bonnie Prince Charlie on his way to Culloden. It was re-built and refurbished in 1895 and patronised at the time by 'the Nobility and Aristocracy' (according to an advertisement).	Post medieval (18th Century)	Negligible

						The building is recorded as 'destroyed' in 2011.
45	MHG2872	NGR 279290 830429	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	HER	Dubhaig Bridge	This is listed on the HER as a bridge, but when it was visited during the walkover survey it appeared to be more of a culvert carrying the Allt Dubhag under the road.	Post medieval (19th century)	Negligible
46	MHG2863 & 40267	NGR 279100 830798	Field System & Rig and Furrow (Archaeological remains)	HER	Tigh an Alt	Centred on this grid reference is a field system which is marked by denuded grass-covered heaps in heather with occasional lynchets and traces of walls. The area has been partly overlain by rig and furrow cultivation.	Prehistoric?	Medium
47	MHG2865	NGR 279680 831080	Findspot (Archaeological remains)	HER	Findspot of Pictish Slab, Invereen	A Pictish symbol-stone made of light red sandstone was found at Invereen in 1932 by a farmer while ploughing. The slab measures 1m x 0.8m x 0.15m and is inscribed with a crescent and V-rod symbol. At the top left are the remains of what appears to be a penannular brooch.	Pictish	Negligible
48	Walkover	NGR 279612 831093	Cairn (Archaeological remains)	N/A	Uaigh nan Saighbear	A cairn, constructed c.2004 which apparently marks the grave of two Highland soldiers who were killed at Invereen in 1746 following the battle of Culloden.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Low
49	MHG25826	NGR 279848 831497	Township (Archaeological remains)	HER	Invereen	A township, comprising seven roofed buildings and one unroofed building is depicted on the 1st edition OS map (1875). Four roofed buildings and two enclosures are	Post-medieval (18th century,	Low

50	MHG23811	NGR 279420 831638	Military Road (Archaeological remains)	HER	Perth-Inverness, General Wade's Military Road	An excavation was carried out on a section of section of General Wade's Military road near Dalmagarry. The excavation revealed the road construction was made of hard packed gravel with stones.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Medium
51	HES number LB14888 MHG15899	NGR 279686 831979	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category C listed)	Bridge over Funtack Burn by Milton of Moy	Bridge dating the earlier 19th century (possibly 1832). Single span and slightly hump backed, built of roughly tooled rubble.	Post-medieval (19th century)	Low
52	MHG2807	NGR 280000 832000	Hut circle (Archaeological remains)	HER	Hut Circle, Milton of Moy	Two hut circles have been noted in the grounds attached to this house, both appear to be c.11m in diameter but the one south of the house has been partially destroyed by the access drive.	Prehistoric (Bonze Age)	Medium
53	MHG49474	NGR 280045 832069	Farmstead (Archaeological remains)	HER	Milton of Moy	Site of farmstead which may be 18 th /19 th century in date, or possibly earlier.	Post Medieval (18 th /19 th century (or earlier)	Low
54	MHG14253	NGR 279820 832280	Township (Archaeological remains)	HER	Milton of Moy	A township comprising four unroofed buildings and two enclosures is depicted on the 1 st edition OS map. Two enclosures are shown on the current edition of the OS map.	Post medieval (18 th century, possibly earlier)	Low

55	MHG2873	NGR 278698 832198	Bridge (Historic Buildings)	HER	Dalmagarry Bridge	No description on HER, but on the walkover survey this appeared to be a culvert carrying the Dalmagarry Burn under the current A9. It may replace an earlier bridge.	Post medieval (19th century)	Negligible
56	MHG34350	NGR 278780 832305	Inn (Historic Buildings)	HER	Dalmagarry Inn	Farmhouse which was originally a kingshouse or inn. Built in 1732 as a two storey building with 4 rooms. It was partially destroyed by fire in 1746 during the aftermath of Culloden (this site is marked in the wrong location on the HHER).	Post-medieval (18th century)	Low
57	MHG2861	NGR 277999 832498	Cairnfield (Archaeological remains)	HER	Cairnfield, Dalmagarry	Poorly defined field system marked by peat-covered stone clearance heaps.	Prehistoric (Neolithic?)	Medium
58	MHG2862	NGR 278309 832718	Hut Circle (Archaeological remains)	HER	Hut Circle, Dalmagarry	A circular stone walled hut, c.15m in diameter between the centres of a heavily peat covered wall. Entrance in the SE. Contemporary clearance cairns were located around the hut. The site was destroyed by the re-alignment of the A9, but contemporary features may survive in the vicinity.	Prehistoric (Iron Age?)	Medium
59	MHG1253	NGR 278418 833547	Pit Trap (Archaeological remains)	HER	Wolf Trap, Moy	A wolf trap is depicted in this location on the 1875 OS map and was identified during investigation in 2004	Post-medieval (18th/19th century)	Low

Square gate piers flank the entrance opposite the former church doorways. The burial ground contains a variety of stones from the late 18th century to modern, there is also a mort/watch house in the south wall.	Post-medieval (18th century)	Medium
70	HES number LB14891 MHG2864	NGR 277192 834207	Church (Historic Buildings)	Designated (Category B listed) & HER	Moy Church (Church of Scotland)	Church of 1765, repaired in 1793 and 1929, and re-cast in the later 19th century. It is a simple rectangular building with a small rear wing containing the Minister's room. Constructed of harled rubble with tooled ashlar margins and dressings. Simple interior with late 19th century fittings. A building survey carried out at the church in 1993 revealed that the rafters of the church date to 1680-1700, predating the present structure and suggests that the church was built on the site of an earlier structure (possibly pre-Reformation) using materials from it.
