

Forth Replacement Crossing
Code of Construction Practice
Schedule of Changes in Revision 2 (August 2010)

Para.	Change	Reason for Change
Glossary	Definition of pedestrians and other non-motorised users added.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
Glossary	Definition of pedestrian, equestrian and cyclist routes added.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
Glossary	Definition of reasonably practicable added.	To clarify what constitutes reasonably practicable means in respect of a clarification provided to the Committee in response to question 2 in the Promoters written response dated 22/02/10.
Glossary	Definition of traffic or road users added.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
1.2.1 – 1.2.4	Amended to reflect the requirements of the CoCP as per the Scottish Parliament Hybrid Bill Guidance and the duties under the Forth Crossing Bill to comply with the Environmental Statement and carry out the works in accordance with the CoCP.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
1.4.2	Amended to reflect the duty under the Forth Crossing Bill to comply with the Environmental Statement.	Changed to reflect more accurately the wording in the Forth Crossing Bill.
1.7.12	Clarification added regarding how community groups will be able to provide comment on the Environmental Management Plan, its subsidiary plans and other management plans.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
1.11.1	Cross reference to paragraph 1.7.9 added.	-
1.11.4	Clarification added regarding how community groups will be able to suggest matters to be considered by the various working groups.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
2.2.3	List of community councils that will be part of the forum referred to in paragraph 2.2.3 added.	For clarification.
2.3.1	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable steps' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
2.3.1	Clarification added regarding providing weekly update to complainants if complaints are not resolved within 48 hours.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
2.3.1	Requirement for local authorities to request information from the enquiries and complaints register removed.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
2.3.1	Clarification that summary information from the enquiries and complaints register will be published on the website.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.4.1	Normal working hours on Saturday amended to end at 1800 hours.	In line with the Committee request at Stage 1 and the Minister's response to the Stage 1 Report.

Forth Replacement Crossing
Code of Construction Practice
Schedule of Changes in Revision 2 (August 2010)

Para.	Change	Reason for Change
3.4.9	Requirement to provide notification of construction works outwith normal working hours amended to be based only on whether works are permitted, rather than also requiring noise levels to be above the noise thresholds in Section 5.	For clarification and in line with other changes made to Section 5.
3.5.2	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.5.6	Wording in 8 th bullet point amended to remove 'frequently' terminology and emphasise requirement to remove rubbish as necessary.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.5.6	Wording in 9 th bullet point amended to require daily inspection of fencing and hoarding.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.5.6	Wording in 11 th bullet point amended to remove 'frequently' terminology and emphasise requirement to remove food waste as necessary	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.7.3	Wording in 7 th bullet point amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.8.1	Requirements in relation to living accommodation on the site clarified to set out that limited living accommodation will be necessary for security personnel and small numbers of personnel who are required to be on-site for 24 hours.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.8.2	Paragraph added to clarify that temporary living accommodation on land outside the site will be controlled through the normal planning process.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
3.10.2	Wording amended to remove 'as considered necessary' terminology and replace with 'as necessary'.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.2.3	Paragraph added to explain that traffic management schemes will ensure the safe transition for road users into traffic managed sections of road and set out requirements relating to temporary traffic signs.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.3.1	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable endeavours' terminology and also clarify that traffic management schemes will accommodate the safe passage of traffic.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.3.10	Clarification added that appropriate routes for currently signed destinations and attractions will be signed as part of traffic management schemes and that routes will be agreed with the Traffic Management Working Group.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.3.11	Clarification added that the Scottish Ministers will work with the relevant local authorities and Police regarding monitoring and appropriate measures to address any issues associated with hazards created by the public parking on roads to view the construction works and that this will also be considered by the Traffic Management Working Group.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.

Forth Replacement Crossing
Code of Construction Practice
Schedule of Changes in Revision 2 (August 2010)

Para.	Change	Reason for Change
4.5.1	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.5.5	Paragraph added to clarify that where separate routes used by pedestrians and other non-motorised users are affected by construction works, the contractor will provide an alternative separate route within the traffic management scheme.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.5.7	Paragraph added to clarify that new routes for pedestrians and other non-motorised users will be opened when they are in a condition safe for use and any traffic regulation orders necessary to regulate their use are in place.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.6.5	Clarification that the contractor will comply with section 95 of the Roads (Scotland) Act 1984 in relation to keeping roads etc free from mud and other loose materials arising from the works.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.6.9	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable endeavours' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.7.1	Clarification added that consultation with local authorities regarding permitted access routes will include consultation on any timing restrictions and that access along other routes will only be permitted with the agreement of the relevant local authority.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
4.8.2	Clarification added regarding monitoring traffic levels on roads.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
5.2.1	Cross reference added to Section 1.2 of the CoCP.	-
5.2.5	Clarification that the contractor's noise assessments will be undertaken as part of the process to ensure compliance with the Environmental Statement and that they will also include assessment of maximum noise levels.	For clarification and also due to amendments to the noise management process in response to an objection to the CoCP.
5.2.6	New paragraph 5.2.6 created by splitting paragraph 5.2.5. Cross reference to Section 5.3 of the CoCP removed to avoid duplication with cross reference added to paragraph 5.2.5. Extended requirement for the Employer's Representative to take appropriate consideration of the views of the Noise Liaison Group included.	-
5.2.9	Paragraph 5.5.5 in Revision 1 of the CoCP moved to paragraph 5.2.9 of Revision 2.	The structure of Section 5 has been changed to accommodate amendments to the noise management process in response to an objection to the CoCP.
5.2.10	Previously paragraph 5.2.8 in Revision 1 of the CoCP. Cross reference to Section 5.3 added and cross reference to Section 5.7 amended to Section 5.8.	The structure of Section 5 has been changed to accommodate amendments to the noise management process in response to an objection to the CoCP.

Forth Replacement Crossing
Code of Construction Practice
Schedule of Changes in Revision 2 (August 2010)

Para.	Change	Reason for Change
5.2.13	Previously paragraph 5.2.11 in Revision 1 of the CoCP. Cross reference to Table 5.2.13 added and Table 5.2.13 added.	In response to an objection to the CoCP regarding application of local authority powers. Table 5.2.13 was previously Table 5.5.1 and related to the noise management process whereby noise within the thresholds did not require secondary consent from the local authorities, and they could not serve notice under the Control of Pollution Act 1974, and also to the provision of noise insulation or temporary rehousing. This approach has been changed and therefore Table 5.2.13 relates only to the to the provision of noise insulation or temporary rehousing.
5.2.14	Cross reference to Section 5.5 amended to be Table 5.2.13.	In line with amendment to paragraph 5.2.13 above.
5.3.1	Reference to vibration added in line with additional parts of Section 5.3 relating to compliance with the Environmental Statement regarding vibration.	-
5.3.5 – 5.3.8	Previously paragraphs 5.7.1 – 5.7.5 in Revision 1 of the CoCP, except paragraph 5.7.3 which related to the vibration management process whereby vibration within the thresholds did not require secondary consent from the local authorities, and they could not serve notice under the Control of Pollution Act 1974. Paragraphs added to Section 5.3 relating to compliance with the Environmental Statement regarding vibration. Note also that paragraphs 5.7.6 – 5.7.7 of Revision 1 of the CoCP have been removed.	For clarification regarding compliance with the Environmental Statement and in response to an objection to the CoCP regarding application of local authority powers.
5.3.10	Previously paragraph 5.3.6 in Revision 1 of the CoCP. Reference to requirement to assess maximum noise levels added.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
Section 5.4	Section 5.4 added regarding maximum noise levels.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.

Forth Replacement Crossing
Code of Construction Practice
Schedule of Changes in Revision 2 (August 2010)

Para.	Change	Reason for Change
Section 5.5	Previously Section 5.4.	Renumbered due to addition of Section 5.4 covering maximum noise levels.
Section 5.6	New Section 5.6 covering local authority consent for noise effects above those defined by the ABC thresholds used in the Environmental Statement. Paragraphs 5.5.1 – 5.5.4 from Revision 1 of the CoCP removed. Paragraph 5.5.6 of Revision 1 of the CoCP retained as paragraph 5.6.4 with minor amendment to remove reference to the Control of Pollution Act 1974.	In response to an objection to the CoCP and clarification requested by the Committee in relation to their Stage 1 Report.
Section 5.7	Previously Section 5.6.	Renumbered due to addition of Section 5.4 covering maximum noise levels.
Section 5.8	Previously Section 5.7 in Revision 1 of the CoCP with paragraph 5.7.3, 5.7.6 and 5.7.7 removed and other paragraphs, as listed above, included in Section 5.2. Paragraphs 5.7.8 – 5.7.10 remain from Revision 1 of the CoCP, renumbered as paragraphs 5.8.1 – 5.8.3.	Renumbered due to addition of Section 5.4 covering maximum noise levels.
5.9.3	Previously paragraph 5.8.3 in Revision 1 of the CoCP. Reference to the Control of Pollution Act 1974 removed and cross reference to Section 5.6 added.	In response to an objection to the CoCP regarding application of local authority powers.
5.9.4	Additional monitoring requirements specified.	-
6.7.2	Amendment to 6 th bullet point to add reference to spraying haul routes with water.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
6.9.1	Amendment to 3 rd bullet point to add reference to spraying haul routes with water.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
7.7.1	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
8.8.1	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
8.3.1	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
11.2.5	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
11.3.5	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
11.3.7	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.
11.3.10	Wording amended to remove 'reasonable precautions' terminology.	In response to an objection to the CoCP.